DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

1. Newly submitted claims 4-7 are directed to an invention that is independent or distinct from the invention originally claimed for the following reasons: The original claims presented were directed to a method and system for coordinating shipping, by providing master accounts and sub accounts to aid in the shipping of items as well as a shipping database. The newly added claims 4-7 are directed to a shipping control system with multiple web pages where each webpage has a specific function. Claims 1-3 are not directed to web pages, but merely can be done in any kind of network, whether it is an internal or an external network.

Since applicant has received an action on the merits for the originally presented invention, this invention has been constructively elected by original presentation for prosecution on the merits. Accordingly, claims 4-7 are withdrawn from consideration as being directed to a non-elected invention. See 37 CFR 1.142(b) and MPEP § 821.03.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

2. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

3. Claims 1-3 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

4. With respect to Claim 3: the phrase “allowing a customer to directly control shipping” is indefinite. It is unclear to the examiner what the scope of this phrase is. How does a customer directly control the shipping? Do they physically pick-up the package and ship it? Do they package the item needed to be shipped? The specification is silent as to the meaning of “directly”. For examination purposes, the examiner is considering this to mean the customer has some control over at least one of the shipping parameters. For example, if a customer states when the item must be delivered by, then the customer is in effect controlling the shipping of the item.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

5. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(a) the invention was known or used by others in this country, or patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country, before the invention thereof by the applicant for a patent.

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

6. Claims 1-3 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Williams et al. (US 2002/0032573).

7. With respect to Claims 1-3: Williams discloses the use of a method and system comprising:

- a. A database (22) which contains shipping information (Paragraph 0109);
- b. A server, which stores master account information and allows a customer to create subaccounts (See abstract, Williams allows an enterprise to have a master account and define users within a group, considered to be subaccounts, which the system define rights and privileges to each group and user, for shipping such as restricted from printing shipping labels and restricted from shipping, claim 10, paragraphs 0130-0139);

c. A network where the customer remotely accesses shipping information (see abstract)

d. Software routines which allow a customer to create subaccounts from a master account (see abstract) and which allow a user customer to directly choose the carrier, therefore directly control shipping (See Figures 18 and 19, with corresponding detailed descriptions)

Response to Arguments

8. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1-3 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Conclusion

9. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Thiel (6,035,291) and Hammel et al. (US 2004/0015392) disclose the use of the customer choosing the carrier.

10. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO

Art Unit: 3629

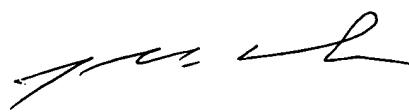

MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
